Summary: Me Oh MY! Is a project that makes you think out of the box. You get to use your creative juices to think what your life would be like as an animal, family member, or even object. Click here and listen/watch to the book Me and My Cat. After listening to the book create a short story that discusses your life in someone else's shoes. Explain what you would do in the shoes of your character. What are your daily activities? How would other people treat you? What rules will you have to live by? Is anyone in control of you? What are your boundaries? What are the advantages and disadvantages of being your character? Would you rather be yourself or the character you traded places with? Write your story out using Microsoft Word then save website. Also create and illustration that goes along with your short story. Attach the pdf and drawing to the email address that is listed below. Other students will then be able to read your story and get inspirational ideas that will help them create their own. These stories will only be used for enjoyment purposes only not educational knowledge of real life events. All posted stories are fiction!
