Final Project Proposal

My final project will be for a service organization that my boyfriend and I recently have wanted to start. We are calling it “Just Clothes.” We plan on gathering and donating clothes to children in Africa. We will be focusing on Kenya and planning on working with the organization Share Africa, who sends items right to Kenya. This site will serve as an informational site where people can understand our organization and contact us if they are interested in helping.

When you first open up the site it will just be a little t-shirt that you click on, then it opens up to the home page. The different pages shown in the navigation would be a home page, about us, information about the country, how to help, and a contact page.
